THE items in this catalogue are like a "Passing Show" from the dawn of America until Liberty was finally enshrined there. Annals of all the great men and famous events are herein offered in their ORIGINAL published form—not having lost any charm from editors (sometimes prejudiced) of later editions. The evolution of the poor, oppressed colonists in a strange land to their establishment as the richest nation in the world, is recorded step by step. The treachery and massacres by the Indians; the oppressive taxes levied by England; the Revolutionary War; the exploits of George Washington; the Declaration of Independence; the War of 1812; the Civil War, with side lights on Abraham Lincoln, etc.; are all related by contemporary authors.

Owing to the rapidly increasing number of Americana collectors, items relating to this continent have become extremely rare. Of several numbers in this catalogue, the only other copies are locked up in Public Libraries or Private Collections and probably will never again be offered for sale, so it behooves the collector to adopt as a watchword—

THE ONLY COPY KNOWN OF THE FIRST BIBLE PRINTED IN AMERICA

33 THE HOLY BIBLE, containing the OLD and NEW TESTAMENTS: Newly Translated out of the Original Tongues: And with the Former Translations Diligently Compared and Revised, By His Majesty's Special Command. Appointed to be read in Churches. LONDON. (Boston.) Printed by Mark Baskett, Printer to the King's most Excellent Majesty; and by the Assigns of Robert Baskett. 4to, in the original sheep binding. M.DCC.LII. (1752). $2,500.00

THE ONLY KNOWN COPY OF THE ORIGINAL ISSUE OF THE FIRST BIBLE EVER PRINTED IN AMERICA IN THE ENGLISH LANGUAGE, and the FOUNDATION STONE FOR ALL COLLECTIONS OF AMERICAN BIBLES. The reasons for making so strong a statement as the above, can, here, be only briefly summarized.

ISAIAH THOMAS, in his "HISTORY OF PRINTING IN AMERICA," states that KNEELAND & GREEN, Boston Printers, issued from their press for DANIEL HENCHMAN and other booksellers, a small quarto BIBLE, and that he was informed of this by those who had assisted in the printing. He gives the date as "about the time that the partnership of KNEELAND & GREEN expired," which was 1752, and QUOTES THE IMPRINT, WHICH CORRESPONDS WITH THAT OF THE COPY HERE DESCRIBED. He states that it was carried through the press AS PRIVATELY AS POSSIBLE, and BORE THE LONDON IMPRINT so as "to prevent a prosecution from those in England and Scotland who published the BIBLE by a patent from the crown, or cum privilegio, as did the Universities of OXFORD and CAMBRIDGE."

The AUTHORIZED imprint was: "OXFORD: PRINTED BY THOMAS BASKETT, PRINTER TO THE UNIVERSITY, 1752."

It is evident that when the Boston printers put forth this Bible THEY DARED NOT COPY THE AUTHORIZED IMPRINT, as the piracy would be apparent and the consequences disastrous, and so selected the, almost identical, name of MARK BASKETT, a London printer of established repute, as a cloak for their designs.

This is the McKee copy, the only one known, which brought $2025 at auction in 1902.

AUTOGRAPH LETTERS OF MEMBERS OF THE COMMITTEE APPOINTED TO DRAW UP THE DECLARATION OF INDEPENDENCE

126–130 [DECLARATION OF INDEPENDENCE.] Jefferson, Thomas. President of the United States. Drafted and Signed the Declaration of Independence. A. L. S. folio. Annapolis, May 7, 1784. To Governor Harrison, with franked address. VERY FINE.

"Since my letter of this morning the post has arrived and brought us a letter from Dr. Franklin of Mar. 9. he had received a letter from Congress informing him of the reasons delaying over ratification, he apprehends no difficulties from this circumstance, & the rather as he had received a letter from Mr. Hartley dated Mar. 2 (the day before the exchange should have taken place) desiring him he would inform him when the American ratification should arrive, & he could then apply for the British & attend the exchange, letters this moment received from Holland inform us that the protested bills will be taken up, but by pushing plan of loan on terms most ruinous & disgraceful, yet less so than nonpaiment could have been, this shows the necessity of doing something effectual in the business of supplies."

Franklin, Benjamin. Signer of the Declaration of Independence. A. L. S. folio. Philadelphia, Oct. 1, 1785. To Thos. Jefferson. EXCEPTIONALLY FINE. IN REFERENCE TO HOUDON VISITING WASHINGTON FOR THE PURPOSE OF MAKING A MARBLE BUST.

"I wrote you by a former opportunity, to acquaint you with our safe arrival. Mr. Houdon, who had been much perplex'd by the Accident of leaving his Things behind him, has found here the Tools and Material he wanted, and set out last Wednesday for General Washington's. My Grandson went the day after to New York, where the Congress are still sitting, and likely to sit the year out, having as I am told much Business, and finding it very difficult to agree upon the Mode of the Requisition. In general the Affairs of our Country seem to be in good Trim, the last Harvest good, our own Produce high, foreign Supplies both European & West Indian lower. We have indeed some Party Wranglings, but no free country was ever without them, and I do not think they are likely to produce any considerable bad consequences. Mr. Houdon had been furnish'd here with the value of Twenty-four Hundred Livres, for his occasion, for which he has drawn on you, in my favour. I find myself the better for my voyage, and I hope you continue well."

Adams, John. President of the U. S., and Signer of the Declaration of Independence. A. L. S. 4to. Quincy, Oct. 1, 1813. To Samuel Elliott, with franked address. VERY FINE.

A beautiful letter of sympathy to Mr. Elliott on the death of his son, and speaking in highest terms of Mr. Vanderkemp.

"I rejoice in Mr. Vanderkemp's arrival at his home. I have known him more than three and thirty years. So long at least, I have admired his Learning and loved his heart. He was the bosom Friend and had the unbounded Esteem and Affection of Luzac, De Gyselaer, Van der Capellens, Van Berckles, &c. He was and Still is a rational Advocate for Liberty civil, political and religious, a liberal, candid Christian, an Enemy to Fraud, Perfidy, Persecution and Tyranny in every form and in every disguise, in Church and State. . . I wish there was more such Salt of the Earth as I believe this to be."

"In respect to the Situation with the Indians, the matter appears to me to stand on this footing,—some of our people (to their shame be it spokeing) have been guilty of murdering some of the Indians, and this has been since repeated on some of these poor wretches who were our best friends. These circumstances, with others, as agrevating, having determined the Indians to make preparations for War, and Barnard's letter, with the other letters from our Agents now in the Indian country, all breathe this Language that an Indian war is inevitable, but that the present is only preparation to a general war to commence about the time, the gathering of the Cain, called by them, the Busk of the year. . . I regrett that my county, for I have heretofore called Chatham county so, have been so lost to their own Independence and Virtue, (I may call it) as to elect and send on Tom Gibbons as a member of assembly for that county. Mores,—but it is more to be regretted that Benedict Arnold is not an Inhabitant of Chatham county, that he may also enjoy the liberty and privilege of it, in common with Tom Gibbons and all others."

"Philadelphia, July 6, 1776.

Gentlemen:—

Altho it is not possible to forsee the consequences of Human Actions, yet it is nevertheless a Duty we owe ourselves and Posterity in all public Councils to decide in the best manner we are able and to trust the Event to that Being who governs both Causes & Events, so as to bring about his own Determination.

Impressed with this Sentiment, and at the same time fully convinced that our Affairs may take a more favourable Turn, the Congress have judged it necessary to dissolve all Connection between Great Britain and the American Colonies, and to declare them free and independent States; as you will preceive by the enclosed Declaration which I am directed to transmit to you, and to request you will have it proclaimed in your Colony in the Way and Manner you shall think most proper.

The important Consequences to the American States from this Declaration of Independence, considered as the ground and Foundation of a future Government, will naturally suggest the propriety of having it proclaimed in such a manner, as that the People may be universally informed of it.

I have the Honour to be
Gentlemen
Your most obed't.
and very h'ble Serv.
John Hancock, Presid't.

Hon. Assembly of New Hampshire."

This is confirmed by Clarke's signature to the "Epistle Dedicatorie." Clarke is also supposed to be the author of the first code of laws for Rhode Island. ONE OF THE FINEST LINCOLN LETTERS KNOWN

"Dear Sir:

It is with some hesitation I presume to address you this letter—and yet I wish not only you, but the whole cabinet, and the President too, would consider the subject matter of it—MY BEING AMONG THE PEOPLE while you and they are not, will excuse the apparent presumption—It is understood that the President at first adopted, as a general rule, to throw the responsibility of the appointments upon the respective Departments; and that such rule is adhered to and practised upon. This course I at first thought proper; and, of course, I am not now complaining of it. Still I am disappointed with the effect of it on the public mind. It is fixing for the President the unjust and ruinous character of being a mere man of straw. This must be arrested, or it will damn us all inevitably. It is said Gen. Taylor and his officers held a council of war, at Palo Alto (I believe); and that he then fought the battle against unanimous opinion of those officers—This fact (no matter whether rightfully or wrongfully) gives him more popularity than ten thousand submissions, however really wise and magnanimous those submissions may be. The appointments need be no better than they have been, but the public must be brought to understand, that they are the President's appointments. He must occasionally say, or seem to say, 'by the Eternal,' 'I take the responsibility'—Those phrases were the 'Samson's locks' of Gen. Jackson, and we dare not disregard the lessons of experience.

Your Ob't Sev't
A. LINCOLN."

NEW YORK REFUSES TO ACCEPT THE CONSTITUTION OF THE UNITED STATES

One of the Greatest New York Documents

397 CLINTON, GEORGE. Brev-Maj. Genl. in the Revolutionary War. L. S. 3 pages, 4to. In Convention at Poughkeepsie, State of New York, July 26, 1788. To the Governor of South Carolina. $650.00

A wonderful historical letter giving New York's reason for not wishing to sign the Federal Constitution, and asking South Carolina, with the other States, to join them in taking effectual measures for calling another Convention for the purpose of amending the Constitution.

"We the members of the Convention of this State, have deliberately and maturely considered the Constitution proposed for the United States. Several articles in it appear so exceptionable to a majority of us, that nothing but the fullest confidence of obtaining a Revision of them by a General Convention, and an invincible Reluctance to separating from our Sister States, could have prevailed upon a sufficient number to ratify it, without stipulating for previous Amendments, we all unite in opinion that such a Revision will be necessary to recommend it to the Approbation and Support of a numerous body of our Constituents, we observe that Amendments have been proposed, and are anxiously desired by several of the States as well as by this, and we think it of great Importance that effectual Measures be immediately taken for calling a Convention to meet at a period not far remote, for we are convinced that the Apprehensions and discontents which these Articles occasion, cannot be removed or allayed, unless an Act to provide for it, be among the first that shall be passed by the new Congress," &c. SIGNED BY GEO. CLINTON, AS PRESIDENT OF THE CONVENTION.

By John Thornton at the Sundyall in the Minories and by Robert Greene at the Rose and Crowne in Budge-rowe London." The title is in a cartouche in the top left hand corner. The lettering is enclosed by an ornamental border somewhat in the shape of a shield, supported on the left side by an Indian woman carrying a pipe, and on the right by an Indian man holding a bow. On the top is a nondescript animal somewhat resembling a beaver, while on the front of the pedestal on which the shield rests, is "A Scale of Thirty English Miles." In the earlier state there is no sign of Pennsylvania, but the whole country north of Virginia and west of the Delaware River is marked "MARYLAND. The real Delaware River is shown but not lettered. but the Schuylkill is marked "SKOOL KILL OR DILLEWAR R." New Jersey is shown with the partition line dividing it into East and West Jersey, so that this state of the map may have been engraved any time between the partition of the Jerseys in 1673/4 and the establishment of Pennsylvania. Probably 1676 would be about the correct date. But the great interest of this map centres in the second state of the plate where we find the new Province of Pennsylvania introduced. The title being exactly the same as given above, it would be impossible to identify the two states from the title alone, and it was the mere chance of our having secured two copies from different sources and happening to compare them together that we discovered the difference. In the second state the upper part of Maryland is now lettered "PART OF PENSILVANIA" and the new boundary is shown by a red and yellow line. The lettering "Mary" (the first part of the word Maryland) which in the first state appeared just below the cartouche, is erased in the second state and re-engraved below the new boundary line. The Delaware river which was not lettered in the first state, is now marked "Delaware River" although the old lettering on the Schuylkill "Skoole Kill or Dillewar R" remains. Philadelphia is marked, also Chester and one or two other places, but with the exception of these Pennsylvania alterations the two states appear to be exactly the same in all other parts. The date of this second state is probably about 1685. The map in either state is of excessive rarity and is not even mentioned by Lee Phillips in his exhaustive and valuable Essay on Virginia Cartography (1896), neither do we find it in A List of Maps of America in the Library of Congress, by the same author, published in 1901. The British Museum possesses a copy of the earlier state. The present copies are both in excellent condition. The size is 17¼ inches wide by 20¾ inches high, with good margins beyond. Price for the two. $350.00
